Yet while there is no obstruction to its Tree flow there is no more danger com handling the wire than there is ataking hold of any bit of copper. The danger comes with the obstrucwhich of the current, or its direction to on point where there is no proper escape or complete circuit. For inschance, the turning of the current sinto a telegraph or telephone wire remould be very apt to cause a fire at the telegraph or telephone instruexcent; or the allowing of the electric Might wire to come in contact with a foreign substance that is a con-Emctor would soon start a blaze at the secint of contact. Under all circumextances and at all times when elec-Spical currents are not under control othey are dangerous, and the more mowerful the current the greater the clanger. At times the telegraph wires end instruments are so heavily charged with electricity as to be dansergue, though the current in them is mever so strong as that required to produce the electric light which is generated by powerful engines. It was stated that the belief prevailed that the big fire in Philadelphia a few days ago was caused by the electric light. There was little if any conwincing evidence that such was the case. Investigation could not fix the fire upon any other source, hence it was charged to the electric light, one the lights having shown signs of momenthing wrong with it. It may as correct to blame the fire to the miectrio lights, but as mysterious fires wre all the time occurring at places where there is no electric light, it is headly fair to charge, this one to the seurce indicated without some better ewidence than has been brought forward. At the same time that blaze will perhaps result in good in this. that it will cause a thorough investiegation into the dangerous character of the new light, and the devising of means for overcoming the evil. If it shall result in the prevention of the stringing in cities of electric light wires that are not properly insulated - se as to guard against danger from fre or from people coming in con-fact with the highly charged con-"senctors, it will be a good thing.

THE UZAR S RE.

In connection with the Washington monument sow in course of erection at the national capital, there is something that should interest the people of Utah, namely, t - stone to m this territory that is to d. a place in the massive pile. This territory bas a stone in Washington, sent there as our memorial court con to the menument. We do not know bow long the stone has oven there, but believe it was shipped overland by ox team a score of year, ago or more. As a monument to the enter; rice and pluck of the earlier settlers in the territory the rock may do very wel t we undertake to say that everybody from this territory who has seen the stone in the sheds at the monument has blushed from shame, while looking at the miserable piece of sandstone amidst magnificent blocks of granite and marble, artistically carved and beautifully polished. The Utah man who takes pride in the territory, if he happens to be looking with others at the stones from the various states when his eyes fall upon the insignificant block out from the cheap and common white sandstone of this region, feels like passing it by hastily in the hope that his associates' attentien will be turned in another direction. One of the most prominent features of the stone is the name of the well known stonecutter who did most of the lettering and figure work in stone in this territory a quarter of a century ago. Most of the states have taken great pride in their memorial stones for the monument, sending works of art that will forever cause a feeling of pride in the breasts of the people from those states who look upon their representative in the glorious pile.
